Crying Shame At Mammoth Cave

Continued neglect of Mammoth Cave . . . one of the Seven Wonders of the World, was very evident to editors and publishers of the Kentucky Press Association who met there last weekend for the first time since 1944.

Notwithstanding Uncle Sam took over in 1946, after a generation of delay, with rosy promises by Secretary of the Interior Krug that millions would be spent to equip Mammoth Cave National Park properly . . . and more optimistic predictions by Senator Alben W. Barkley, who spoke with Mr. Krug on the dedicatory program . . . virtually nothing has been done to provide more overnight accommodations, better roads in the reservation, better swimming or other recreational facilities which the vacationing public expects and demands.

Mammoth Cave lies in almost the exact geographical center of the United States, easy of access (except for a narrow, dangerous road from the highway into the park) to more millions of every-day Americans than any other National park.

For years, despite handicaps such as the competition of privately owned caves, poor hotel accommodations, bad approach roads and others, many thousands have been turned away after a few hours' stay from this greatest of all Kentucky attractions because there was no place for them to spend a night.

It is true that war left scarcities, that building costs are extremely high and labor hard to get. But Uncle Sam can build a hotel, a swimming pool, a golf course, many more cabins and cottages, bridge trails and better roads within the park reservation and the Department of Interior can provide the money . . . if the demand is strong and loud enough.

Kentucky's own neglect of her unmatched tourist attractions has cost untold millions of dollars, especially in the recent years of the greatest vacation volume in history; but we had hoped for better things of Mammoth Cave, once it became a national park.

This hope is as far from realization today as it has ever been, which is a crying shame.

England Gambles The Peace

England, our nearest of blood kin among the international brotherhood, is in a fair way to lose quite a lot by her break with us in the matter of the war in Palestine.

British officers are leading the Arabs and British arms are killing the Jews who fight to save their recently established nation . . . while the U. S. tries ineffectually to bring peace and sends millions of dollars to England in ERP money . . . with world tranquility in view.

We have always admired and respected England . . . where, in Churchill's immortal words, so many owe so much to so few. And we have defended the mother country often, when isolationists harangued against lending aid to the land of John Bull when it was sorely afflicted.

But now we believe it is time to call a halt, to stop United States dollars from saving England's economy and the likely break-up of the British Commonwealth . . . unless England ceases, with the promised truce in the Arabian-Jewish war, to foster her own selfish ends in Arabia and Palestine at the expense of the little nation just born and so courageously defended against great odds these last several weeks.

England's purpose is plain. She is seeking to perpetuate and extend her power, as she has done for centuries, along the Suez Canal and southward. She must not be permitted to do this at the cost of more innocent lives . . . and a grave threat to the fragmentary and temporary peace of a distressed and fearful world.

This time the British gamble is in vain. The world will not permit another catastrophe to overtake its peoples because of England's ambitions along the Mediterranean.

Lessons Of The Past

The genius of Winston Churchill shines through the magnificent and fascinating panorama he is painting of the events that led to the most devastating war in history. No one of our sorely tried generation can read these pages without reliving the stirring events they portray. Yet no one who does read them can fail to be impressed with the justice of his dictum that this was, indeed, the "Unnecessary War," and that a little more wisdom, fortitude and daring could have prevented it. That impacts to these Memoirs a significance which is not confined to an indictment of the past but which carries an urgent lesson to all now charged with shaping the future.

For neither the magnificence of Mr. Churchill's word picture nor the drama of the events he recounts can disguise the fact that this first part of his story deals with a measure of human inadequacy and futility which appear almost incredible in the light of hindsight. These human failings are all the more significant because they are by no means confined to individuals but are rather inherent in democracy itself, which can rise to unparalleled heights of strength and valor when aroused, but is apt to suffer from indecision and division before it is aroused and which, while prone to cry for strong leaders in times of stress, is inclined to reject such leadership, and to reduce even its best statesmen to mere followers of popular trends, before the time of stress arrives.

It is these inherent characteristics of democracy and democratic statesmanship that give such poignant significance to what Mr. Churchill calls the "locust years," when the victors of the First World War permitted Hitler to arm in brazen defiance of the peace treaty while neglecting their own armaments because, as Premier Baldwin frankly acknowledged, adequate armament might have cost him the election in a country lost in pacifism. It is these same characteristics which made futile all efforts to stop Hitler in time and finally led to Munich and Mr. Chamberlain's famous boast that he had secured "peace in our time," which carried with it the ominous implication of "after us the deluge." Perhaps the greatest irony of that event is, as Mr. Churchill emphasizes, that it probably prevented an overthrow of Hitler by his own generals, who had been plotting against him long before they tried to bomb him out of existence in the last phases of the war.

It was the hesitancy and the division of the West-European nations that made most of them an easy prey to totalitarian conquest. And this same theme, so eloquently set forth in Mr. Churchill's Memoirs, illuminates his appeal last week at The Hague, made there in the role of statesman rather than historian, for the immediate formation of a European deliberative assembly as the first step toward a new Council of Europe. "We are here," said Mr. Churchill, "to lay the foundations upon which the statesmen of the Western democracies may stand and to create an atmosphere favorable to the decisions to which they may be led."

This undertaking, like the Five-Power Alliance formed recently at Brussels, like the Sixteen-Nation Union to carry out the Marshall Plan and like all other similar efforts to consolidate and reinforce the democracies of Western Europe, deserves the support of our own people and our Government, and, in fact, cannot succeed without such support. For as we look back, with Mr. Churchill's perspective, upon the course of history it becomes increasingly clear that the failure of the West-European democracies to prevent the outbreak of war in 1939 was due not merely to their own mistakes but also to a large extent to the strange policy of the United States, which stood on the sidelines and preached disarmament for all, while cheering the imperiled West-European nations on to stop Hitler.

The United States now stands in the front line as a target of aggression, and as a result has learned much since the days of isolation. But it must still be demonstrated whether we have learned enough to draw the necessary conclusions of the situation. For though we are beginning to arm, and are seeking to strengthen our potential and essential allies economically, we are still reluctant, as before the war, to make common cause with these allies by the only method that might have spelled success in 1939 and which alone can spell success now. That is a hard and fast alliance with them, which will subordinate conflicting individual weaknesses and fears, to a common policy based on the combined wisdom and strength of all the allied democracies, including the United States. This method offers the best hope of avoiding the error of the past which led to war, and of substituting for them a new policy which holds a brighter promise for the future. (New York Times)

The orchids this week . . . and plenty of them, go to T. R. Feagan, for his new super-market at Fredonia . . . which would be a credit to any city, anywhere . . . and is an amazing example of what can be accomplished in this great country of ours.

Mr. Feagan started as a clerk in Young's store, at Fredonia, and by industry, close application, hard work over long hours, thrift and other fine virtues, has come through to a signal success . . . in which hundreds of his friends and admirers share with marked pleasure . . . as was evidenced by the big crowds which thronged his fine new store last Saturday, when it was officially opened to the public. Business was good too . . . for Mr. Feagan had to send out and get a second cash register to take care of the volume of sales!

Highly pleasing to our neighborhood were the awards and honors accumulated by two of our young men, Johnny Haralson and Bob Taylor, as they finished prep schools. We mourn the absence of these young folk, while they're away at school, but rejoice exceedingly when they reflect such marked credit upon their homes, their parents and their community.

If the new specs, coming up soon, do not improve my golf game . . . some of my old friends are gonna have a lot more fun with an ex-golfer about my size and vintage. It is less work to fish, anyhow, Doc Amos tells me.

Larry, home from KMI, stopped in the picture show to speak to a pretty young miss he had been missing . . . when he went and sat down, Dave asked Joan King what Larry had said to her! Big brother is wondering how much of this chaperonage he must put up with.

T. A. Corcoran, a fine fellow and brother-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Day, was honored last week by election as financial vice president of the National Association of Purchasing Agents. He is purchasing agent for the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times and we have had long and pleasant business dealings with him.

Success seems sometimes to be hitched to $5 bills. The story about Happy Chandler and the $5 bill he had when he started to college at Transylvania was matched, for me, by one about a prominent young physician of our town . . . who went to Western with the same monetary equipment, worked his way through a year and came home with $15. This young man has kept right on along the upward trail and is now firmly established here. A boyhood friend is authority for this story about Dr. Frank Giannini.

PATRICK CALLS ME MOTHER, by Ann Barley (Harper; $2.75)

A couple of years ago you read in the papers about an American miss who went to France and adopted an orphan. I would hope that hundreds of other Americans would do likewise if I thought they could produce books as moving and delightful as the one to which Miss Barley has given birth.

She was expecting, it seems, to marry a fellow who, the dumb cluck, changed his mind, so she ran off with her skin-deep grief to a cocktail party where she met a Dutchman who discussed the countless motherless and fatherless children abandoned in his country in the wake of war. She reached the obvious conclusion that a woman could hardly have a child without benefit of husband and, loaded with dresses and playthings for boys and - or girls from six months to three or four years old, and with medicines, diapers and the like, she sailed blithely for Europe.

The papers needed by an unmarried mother for the export of a nine-months old Frenchman threatened with an operation but obviously not a subversive or an immoral character, were voluminous, but she collected them, signed, stamped and sealed, just in time to make the only plane on which she had a reservation. She settled in Washington, one of the happiest mothers, with one of the happiest infants, author of one of the happiest books, in all this land of milk and orange juice.

Caldwell County Times ever put out was that of last week . . . and it was made so by the Times' new No. 31 Linotype machine, plus the work of Tom McConnell and his helpers. This was the first brand new Linotype machine ever set up in Princeton, to the best of my belief, and indicates, among other things, a financially healthy community.

The Leader may get its new No. 32 Linotype, a larger machine capable of doing many unusual printing tricks, into service next week. It will enable us to render quicker, more efficient service, with a wider variety of type faces and fewer chances of errors . . . since the machine will virtually do away with hand-setting of type in our shop.

Neither The Leader nor the Times could have bought a new Linotype machine on today's very expensive market unless patronage of the local public had been very good. For my part, I appreciate the business which comes here . . . especially from home folk; and all of us here at The Leader will try to merit this expression of confidence and good will.

Walter Underwood, personality-plus younger son of Editor Tom R. Underwood and Mrs. Underwood of the Lexington Herald, was, next to Fred Wachs, president of the press association, the busiest feller we saw at the Mammoth Cave summer convention last weekend. Walter had two gals, one a red-head, both brought by him from Lexington; and for anybody else, this would have been too much load.

Bill Mays, home from a successful year at Northern Oklahoma Junior College, where he is studying business administration, will be off soon for a six week's summer course sponsored by his college near Vera Cruz, Mexico, where his group will study Mexican language and customs, living with a Mexican family. Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Mays recently drove out to Oklahoma to bring their son home, visiting the home office of the Mid-Continent Petroleum Co., at en route.

Washington — The need for nurses is "imperative" if present health programs, as well as anticipated expansion in health services, are to be carried out. This was revealed in a report by the personnel section of the National Health Assembly which met in Washington recently to prepare a 10-year United States Health program.

It is estimated that approximately 554,000 nurses will be needed in 1960 for federal services, non-federal hospitals, private duty, public health and industrial service.

Because of the increased services required of professional nurses, the report further urged their educational programs be broadened.

The personnel section recommends that nursing education should be included in the curriculum of all institutions of higher learning, and that qualified applicants without discrimination as to race, color or sex.

We Thank You!

I am truly grateful to the hundreds of friends and customers who came to the formal opening of our new Supermarket Friday and Saturday, June 4-5, and made of that occasion a happy one for me and those associated with me. The flowers and the many expressions of good will and good wishes were especially welcome.

To those who were for one reason or another prevented from visiting us at our open house, we extend a cordial invitation to come today, or any day convenient. You will always be welcome.

We are indeed grateful for the splendid patronage you have given us and extend a most cordial invitation to each and everyone to return soon and often.

do a little figuring on how much milk it takes to grow veals to market age and take into consideration the reduction in milk production caused from allowing calves to remain on the cow to veal age they will find that raising of veal calves is pretty costly in the long run.

The fact that "production bred" bulls are available through the artificial insemination program should be the main factor to consider when deciding whether to make use of the program. Very few if any farmers in Caldwell county could have available for their use dairy sires that have proven their ability to transmit high production qualities to their daughters except by means of artificial breeding.

The following are examples of records credited bulls now being used in the artificial breeding program. "Golden Jewel," a Jersey bull with 6 daughters having D.H.E.A. records of an average of 8204 pounds of milk testing 5.4% or a total of an average of 440 pounds of butter fat. ## THE GARDEN

By JOHN S. GARDNER
Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics

TIMELY TOPICS

Because of cool weather and cold ground, gardeners who used poultry manure for side-dressing have noted a sluggish response. For poultry manure to break down and become nitrogen plant food, warm temperatures are needed. Such crops as cabbage, cauliflower and broccoli, which make their best growth before the weather gets hot, may need help.

Ordinarily, the answer would be chemical nitrogen, as in nitrate of soda or ammonium nitrate, but these are virtually unobtainable. However, complete fertilizer may be used for the nitrogen it contains. A 3-9-6 is all right, but a higher nitrogen content (the first figure) would be better. The only difference in using it is that more is needed, one pound of fertilizer being used for 20 plants.

CAULIFLOWER: As soon as there is the sign of the "flower" starting, it should be shaded with a tent made of the four lowest leaves pinned together with a toothpick or a matchstick. If this is neglected, the flower becomes tinted with lilac and tends to break into branches. It also will be strong in flavor.

BROCCOLI: Those who are growing broccoli for the first time should know that it is the blossom-bud clusters that are used for food while they are still tight shut. Left too long, these buds open, resembling those of wild mustard. Side-dressing is particularly valuable here, for when the weather becomes warm, bud forming entirely stops.

DDT: This miracle weedkiller has little use in a vegetable garden as the vegetables are all broad leaved plants. However, a gardener may save himself some weeding in beans or any other vegetable, whose seeds are large enough to be covered 1/2-inch deep, by spraying with DDT a ance or may combine their policies up to the $10,000 limitation, VA officials said. It is possible for these veterans to carry their World War I insurance on a term basis and their National Service Life Insurance on a permanent plan.

Veterans should consult their nearest VA office for detailed information concerning government insurance.

State Press Group Oppose Dam Plan

A resolution opposing construction of the Mining City Dam was passed unanimously at the mid-summer meeting of the Kentucky Press Association at Mammoth Cave.

The resolution said: "Whereas Mammoth Cave National Park would, according to the Secretary of the Interior, suffer great and irreparable injury should the proposed dam in Green River at Mining City be built, and whereas Kentuckians have an investment of $15 million in the park: Resolved, that the Kentucky Press Association opposes construction of the dam, or any dam downstream from Mammoth Cave, and urges every Kentuckian to oppose it actively and militantly."

At least 12 sprayers for 2-4-D have been made at home, bought, or constructed for by Lyon county farmers.

News From The Past

News representing lives, hopes, dreams and ambitions of those who made up the populace of Princeton and Caldwell county almost 40 years ago recorded nowhere but in the yellowed files of Twice-A-Week Leader of those years will be published as a regular Leader feature. The articles are reproduced just as the Princeton reporters, shortly after the turn of the century, wrote them.

July 28, 1925. Miss Nettie Kinsolving, who was the charming guest of Misses Angeline and Elizabeth Dorr, has returned to her home in Paducah.

Little Miss Maria Jones, of Wallonia, has returned home after a pleasant visit to Miss Hester Virginia Hayden, on Washington street.

August 4, 1925. Miss Atha Stallings, of Lewistown, has been employed as a primary teacher for the Fredonia Graded schools. The other members of the faculty are Prof. and Mrs. D. C. Spickard, Miss Carrie Ross and Miss Dorothy Dean.

total of 361 pounds of butter fat. The daughters gave an average of 1070 pounds more milk testing .3% more or a total of 79 pounds more butter fat than their dams.

"Metecors Golden Lad", a Guernsey bull whose sire, "Brookwood Meteor", has 17 daughters with D.H.E.A. records showing on average production of 9,556 pounds of milk and 468 pounds of butterfat and whose dam, "Berea Carthaage Lass", has records of an average of 11,135 pounds of milk and 559 pounds of butter fat.

"Double Segis Johanna Ladd", a proved Holstein bull with 12 daughters having records of an average of 15,111 pounds of milk and 575 pounds of butter fat. The daughters gave 2663 pounds more milk and 144 pounds more butterfat than their dams. Heifers from cows which we have here in the county sired by bulls like these should make quite an improvement in production over their dams.

August 4, 1925. Aaron Koltinsky, Robert Metcalfe, Leo Walker, Philip Stevens, S. O. Catlett and son, Charles, were among those attending the ball game at Roselairie, Ill., Sunday.

August 4, 1925. Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bromley and children, Helen and James, left Sunday to visit his parents in Bradley, Pa. While gone, they will visit Salamanca, N. Y., Niagara Falls and other points of interest.

August 14, 1925. Mrs. M. R. Kevill and Miss Rosalind Roach are enroute here in their car from Springfield, O., and will probably arrive today.

September 4, 1925. Mr. James L. Stegar, son of Col. and Mrs. J. A. Stegar, has gone to Ardmore, Okla., where he has accepted a position as teacher of history in the Junior High School. James is a graduate of the Princeton High School and Georgetown College, and is a splendid young man. He has our best wishes for success in his chosen profession.

Sept. 11, 1925. Messrs. Knox Wylie and Robert Jacobs will leave early next week for Lafayette, Ind., where they will enter Purdue University.

Sept. 15, 1925. Hearne Harralson leaves today for Castle Heights Military Academy, in Tennessee, where he will take up his second year's studies.

Sept. 15, 1925. Miss Mary Wilson Eldred left Thursday for Stanton, Va., where she will matriculate at Mary Baldwin Seminary.

Veterans' News

A total of 437 seriously disabled World War II veterans in Kentucky have received vehicles at government expense under the "autos for amputees" program, Veterans Administration tri-state Branch Office in Columbus, O., reports.

Under the present law, enacted by Congress in 1946, eligible veterans have until June 30, 1948, to submit applications. VA advises that they should apply at least 15 days before the deadline, to allow ample time to process their applications.

The present law provides an automobile or other conveyance at a cost not to exceed $1,600 for any World War II veteran who lost or lost the use of, one or both legs at or about the ankle as the result of service-incurred injuries.

Veterans who saw service in both World Wars I and II are eligible for U. S. Government and National Service Life Insurance protection in a combined amount not to exceed $10,000, insurance officials at the Veterans Administration Branch Office in Columbus, O., stressed today.

Two-war veterans may carry $10,000 in either type of insur-

Hotels In State Told To Correct Unsafe Conditions

Louisville — Operators of 289 hotels in Kentucky have been ordered to correct unsafe conditions by making structural changes estimated to cost $3,250,000, W. M. Denning, State fire protection engineer, announced here.

Denning disclosed these and other facts in a report to State Fire Marshal Frank D. Crutcher in connection with observance of the second anniversary of the Chicago La Salle hotel fire. The fire took 21 lives, several of them Kentuckians, June 5, 1946.

Denning said the campaign to enforce safety in Kentucky hotel began after the La Salle hotel blaze. He added that, due to insufficient personnel, the marshal's office has been unable so far to determine to what extent the hotels have complied with orders. Denning said Crutcher has ordered him to press inspection activities.

Law enforcement in Louisville, he said, had been left largely to the city fire prevention bureau, because of the shortage of state inspectors. Capt. H. L. Foster, head of the bureau, reported there were fifty-one hotels in Louisville of which three so far have met all requirements.

He said seven have closed rather than install the ordered improvements, two have been closed by court order, and several other suits are pending.

Not a single hotel in the State was found to comply with all fire protection requirements, Denning said, but correspondence with owners indicates faults in some buildings are being corrected.

Bisbee Comedians Here Next Week

Bisbee's Comedians will be here again for one week starting Monday, June 14.

Bisbee's Comedians, signifying the best and cleanest entertainment of its kind on the road, prolonged study and observation on the part of the manager, J. C. Bisbee, as to the wants and demands of the present day public, is the basis of the Bisbee's troupe, long heralded as the show of fun and amusement for everyone from the old folks down to the kiddies.

Following that ever popular comedian, "BOOB BRASFIELD," the south's funniest comedian, are such well known artists as Jess and Dot Sund, singers and dancers; the Farren twins, singing the songs and playing the music you love to hear; Ralph Blackwell, renowned ventriloquist; Kitty and Cille, tap dancers; Billy Choate, the boy with the golden voice; Mahala, the master magician, who has amazed in the past will again present some new and baffling tricks and illusions. He is featuring this year sawing a woman in two with a buzz saw; Jimmie Reynolds, feature dancer, two feet with a single thought, Audra Hardesty, trick and novelty violinist; Maxine Lee, Virginia Oliver and Leo Lacy, are among the players, who will appear on Bisbee's stage; Bob Fisher and his Dixie Swing Band, will furnish the music for each evening entertainment.

The plays are from latest royalty releases, and combine laughs and tears in their plots, with Novelty Vaudeville presentations between the acts. The Tent is rain-proof and fire-proof. Doors open at 7 o'clock, orchestra, 7:45, curtain at 8 o'clock.

1949 Ford Shown To Public Today; Has Many Changes

The 1949 Ford, which reveals a radical departure from traditional Ford styling and engineering, was made public today to the Ford Motor Company.

"New standards of beauty, comfort, economy and performance in the 1949 Ford passenger cars advance them far ahead of others in the low-priced field," J. R. Davis, vice-president and director of sales and advertising, said. "Styling of the new Ford definitely establishes it as the car of the year."

To develop and produce the 1949 Ford passenger cars, Ford Motor Company has expended more than $37,400,000 in tools, dies, jigs and fixtures.

The modern design has been molded along functional lines, resulting in a long, low, sweeping silhouette. The grille is distinctive, the hood massive but shorter and the body so wide the rear fenders have been eliminated. There are clean, unbroken lines from front to rear.

Comfort has been one of the primary objectives in the new Ford. There is more room in the "lounge car" interiors than in many cars with much larger over-all dimensions. Front seat widths have been increased six inches and the rear seat nearly eight inches. The body has been moved five inches forward with the seats cradled between the axles for a much smoother ride.

A new type of suspension system—"hydra-coil" springs — replaces the traditional transverse springs and the front axle. This system is centered around airplane type shock absorbers mounted within low frequency coil springs. In the rear, extra long longitudinal springs are complemented by airplane type shock absorbers.

Engine vibration has been reduced by literally floating the power plant on rubber mounts.

A new heating system available in the new Ford brings year around comfort to driver and passengers. Fresh air is scooped into the car through large intakes just behind the grille.

The system, which has an automatic temperature control, can be used as a fresh air ventilator, a fresh air heater or as a recirculating heater. Fresh air plus the pressure effect obtained by the car's forward motion reduces fogging and drafts.

cylinders and smoothing engine operation.

The new "equa-flow" cooling system contributes to good performance under extreme conditions by improving general operating efficiency. Water flows in volume the full length of the block. Temperatures in "hot spots" in the six and eight cylinder engines have been decreased by as much as 12 degrees. There are larger water pumps in the V18.

Improvements in the ignition system also have contributed to increased economy and efficiency.

As much as 25 percent improvement in gasoline economy may be achieved by taking advantage of the overdrive which is available as factory-installed optional equipment.

Improvements Made

Farm Entrances
Continued progress in the design to improve farm entrances is reported from Bath, Ky. Albert D. Dicken, county agent, has completed a new gateway set from the highway to provide sufficient car space. It has a gate crossing and a standard gate swung from brick.

With the assistance of her family, Mrs. James Toy, a member of the Tunnell Hill Homemakers Club, has completed a white paint around their home. Then painted the farm name, "Cress Farm", and the name on the mailbox.

The farm entrance improvement project is a state-wide plan supervised by Prof. N. R. Elliott, county agent, and the College of Agriculture and Home

Club Lessons Applied In Redecorating Home

Redecorating her old home to make it look new and lovely was the experience of Mrs. W. L. Dawson, Sr., of Oldham county. For several years she has been making plans for refurbishing her home as she learned new ideas in the LaGrange Homemakers Club. Last year she made her kitchen both convenient and attractive. More recently, she has completed the redecoration of the other rooms in the house. Home Agent Lilah Hembree reported.

Heavy dark beams in living and dining rooms were removed and the remaining woodwork painted white. Floors were sanded and refinished, new color schemes planned and walls repapered. Windows were hung with new curtains, slipcovers made for comfortable pieces of furniture and pictures hung.

sented when 91 members modeled the dresses they had made in their project work. Among them were three generations in the Phil-Dunham Club. They were Mrs. Sallie Combest, mother; Mrs. Otha Compton, daughter, and Mrs. J. Q. Rodgers, granddaughter.

Insects On Tobacco Can Be Controlled

Tobacco flea beetle can be controlled by DDT dust applied at the rate of about four pounds to the acre, according to Prof. H. H. Jewett of the Kentucky Experiment Station. Another control is a dust containing one part of paris green and five parts of arsenate of lead, using about three pounds to the acre.

Hornworms or tobacco worms, another tobacco pest, may be picked off, or dusted with a mixture of a pound of paris green and six pounds of hydrated lime, used at the rate of seven to eight pounds to the acre. Or a dust may be made of a pound of paris green and five pounds of arsenate of lead, used at the rate of six pounds to the acre.

Cutworms are controlled by a poisoned bait made of a pound of paris green to 50 pounds of wheat bran. Dampened to make a crumbly mixture, it is scattered 15 to 20 pounds to the acre. A small amount may be dropped at each plant.

What It Means: Moscow Razzle - Dazzle In Foreign Affairs

By Robert E. Geiger
Washington — Is the new Russian "peace offensive" sincere? Many Americans are puzzled and confused by this question and the cool reception Stalin's proposals have received here. Why didn't American officials jump at this opportunity to talk things over?

A House Foreign Affairs subcommittee which analyzed Russian tactics predicted weeks ago there would be frequent shifts in Russian policy. Reports like this one, and other knowledge of Russian tactics, help explain the American attitude. The committee decided that "razzle-dazzle" is an important feature of Communist policy and thumbed through 100 years of Communist history to support this decision.

On the football field razzle-dazzle is the quick and hidden shifting of the ball from player to player amid so much confusion that the opposing team is dazzled. The committee said the Russians attempt to do the same thing in international affairs. Its report said if Communist policy seems headed toward cooperativeness at one moment, toward uncooperativeness at another and nowhere in particular at a third it's only to hide one truth:

"Economic and political policy and action, collaboration on the surface and subversion underneath, a swing to the right in one period and a swing to the left in another, are meant to serve a single end, the world revolution." The State Department's attitude toward Stalin's statement that U. S.-Russian differences could be settled along lines suggested by Henry Wallace is this, in brief:

These points of difference that Stalin mentioned are old ones. There has been plenty of opportunity to settle some of them in the United Nations. Russia knows this. If she really wants to settle them the way always is open. The subcommittee's analysis of Russian policy is more blunt and explains why many government officials look with skepticism on Stalin's proposal. It says:

A zig-zag line of advance and retreat, called the "Leninist line", has been a basic policy explaining Communist strategy for the past 30 years, since the Russian Revolution. This zig-zag line is the cause of most of the confusion as to just what the Communist policy is. The subcommittee traces the zigs and zags this way:

1. After the revolution came three years of war Communism, when the party in Russia drove to the left, nationalizing industries, requisitioning goods and drafting manpower.
2. Then came six years when free enterprise was encouraged, to revive production.
3. Next came the Five Year Plan. The drive to the left brought socialization of agriculture, famine in the Ukraine and the slaughter of so many cattle that livestock never have come back to their former numbers.
4. Hitler's rise to power in 1933 brought a shift to the right in foreign relations. There was an alliance of communism with Socialism in France and other countries. Purges of 1937 and 1938 showed how Russia could intensify leftism at home and at the same time cooperate with capitalism abroad.
5. Then came the war. The Russians took what they could on their own. They discussed world revolution with the Germans but set their price too high for the Nazis. The failure to make a deal with Hitler brought the German attack on Russia in 1941. The United Kingdom accepted Russia as an ally. The United States moved swiftly to include Russia under lend-lease. Thus began a new "right" period of cooperating with democratic forces.
6. Until repudiation of the Marshall plan in June, 1947, there was cooperation with the democracies. Then Russia began her period of expansion and of "radical leftism."
7. Now there is evidence Russia may be setting on a new

"zig" or "zag", possible touched off by the defeat of Communism in Italy. Is she sincere in wanting world peace?

Committee members say they see no reason for altering a conclusion they reached before the present Soviet peace drive. They concluded:

"They (Communists) know when and how to emphasize the line of sweet reasonableness, resorting to appeasement tactics, strictly on the psychological level where it costs least."

Reeves declared that, under existing practices, no community has control of its tax matters. He said he is opposed to blanket tax assessment increases, of which Caldwell county has had six in the last 7 years, but that this is the only way, under the law, his department can do what it is required to do... levy taxes among the counties upon an equitable basis. The Revenue Department can do nothing, he said, about effecting fair and equitable tax assessments as among individuals within any county. "This is the job of the people of this community and can only be done by them, through their legally chosen representatives," he said.

Mr. Reeves said the 40 percent assessment placed upon city lots here by his department would, because of lenient treatment by the Tax Commission, permit Princeton's schools to share in the State Equalization fund this year but more tax revenue will be necessary next year if this State money is allowed to come here.

The Revenue Department head, when questioned by members of the Citizens Committee, indicated there is another grave threat to Caldwell county's tax revenues, as presently constituted, in that the corporations may bring suit this year to have their tax assessments put on a parity basis with those of the Kentucky counties.

Should this occur, he said, Caldwell would lose the difference between an assessment against the Illinois Central Railroad, the Kentucky Utilities Company, Southern Bell Telephone Co., and other utility companies of 80 percent of fair cash value and the 21.5 percent in Princeton and 29 percent in the county, as now levied here. This would amount to about will be in charge.

Former Princetonians Spend Sunday Here

Mrs. Douglas Boone, Boston, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McElroy, Morganfield, and Miss Esther Langley, Detroit, Mich., attended Oden Memorial Methodist Church services here Sunday morning. Mesdames McElroy and Boone are the former Alama and Annie Downing, of Princeton. Their mother, Mrs. Annie Downing had been visiting Mr. and Mrs. McElroy the last several days and accompanied the group here Sunday. Mrs. Boone and Miss Langley, also a former resident of Princeton, had been visiting in the McElroy home. They returned home Sunday afternoon. Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Cash entertained the group, including Mrs. J. R. Burkholder and their grand-daughter, Miss Betty Lou Cash, at dinner Sunday at Kentucky Inn.

Mrs. Pauline Gibson and son, Billy, Evansville, are visiting Mrs. Kelly Bradshaw, Marion Road, this week.

Birthday Dinner

A surprise birthday dinner for Mrs. Jim Blackburn was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Blackburn Sunday, June 6.

The following enjoyed the day with Mrs. Blackburn and wished her many happy returns: Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Phelps and children, Marion Ivy, Jerry, Billy, Carol, Margie Lou, Deryl Lynn, and Danny; Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Lowell and children, Judy and Brenda; Miss Sue Beavers, Mrs. Denia Beavers, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Tackwell and children, Reta, Lois, Doris Jean and Larry; Mrs. Pearl Blackburn, John Blackburn, Marc Blackburn.

Mr. Ivy Moore, Mrs. Madge Riley and children, Evelyn, Doty and Jimmy; Miss Patsy Wigginton, Evansville; Mrs. Ruth Dunning, Miss Betty Dunning, Mrs. Henry Phelps and children, David, Wanda, Peggy and Betty Louise.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Blackburn and children, Sue, Gary, Linda; Mr. Earl Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Riley, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Blackburn and children, Richie and Brenda Fay.

Rose and Garden Club Holds Regular Meeting

The Rose and Garden Club met Thursday night, June 3, in the basement of the George Coon Library. Each member brought a specimen rose or flower arrangement for the monthly flower show, which were judged by Mrs. Charles Geiger, and rose awards were:

Blue Ribbon, Mrs. John McLin—Peace; Dr. C. F. Engelhardt—Pink Dawn; Mrs. C. F. Engelhardt—Mrs. Paul R. Bosley. Red Ribbons, Mrs. J. J. Rosenthal—Christopher Stone; Mrs. Shell Smith—Rome Glory; Mrs. Eugene Williamson—Rex Anderson. Mrs. Eugene Williamson—Pinocchio.

Flower arrangement awards were made to Mrs. Charles Geiger.

To Play At Country Club

Virgil Whyte and his Musicals, "America's Finest All Girl Band," will play for the Princeton Country Club's Annual Summer Dance Thursday night, June 17.

ger, first; Miss Fanny Newson, second; and Mrs. J. W. Hollingsworth, third.

Dr. and Mrs. Engelhardt recently attended the convention of the National Rose Society in Kansas City and he gave an interesting report of the meeting and Rose Show which was held on the Sky Roof of the Continental Hotel. While in Kansas City, the Engelhardts met Mr. and Mrs. Miller, of whose rose garden Mr. R. S. Gregory showed color slides at the last meeting of the local Rose and Garden Club.

Mrs. Geiger was in Louisville for the flower show of the Bechmont Garden Club. The Louisville club sent the Princeton unit four books on garden arrangement, which will be added to the library.

The next meeting will be a picnic at the home of Mrs. Shell Smith, Eddyville Road, July 1, at 6 o'clock.

To Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Masters, 403 W. Main street, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with open house for friends and relatives from 4 to 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Dr. Masters, former pastor of the Second Baptist Church here, is engaged in writing a history of Kentucky Baptists.

The Leader Congratulates

Mr. and Mrs. John Lacey Watson, Route 1, on the birth of a son, Gregory Layne, June 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Linville, Route 2, on the birth of a daughter, June 5. She has been named Virginia Louise.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude William Brasher, Route 2, on the birth of a son, James Milton, June 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rowland, Hopkinsville street, on the birth of a son, Harold Wayne, June 6, at Jennie Stewart Hospital, Hopkinsville. Mrs. Rowland is the former Dorothy Hatler.

In Appreciation

We wish to thank the many friends of Mrs. Pashie Williams for their numerous acts of kindness to us following her recent death. Their sincere sympathy has made her passing easier for us. Especially do we thank the neighbors and the Rev. R. E. Hughes and those who contributed the many beautiful floral offerings.

$10 Land Made To Grow Good Crops

Fifteen years ago, W. B. Adcock, of Carlisle county, bought a farm for the tax assessment of $10 an acre. Situated as it was in the roughest section of the county, land erosion had been encouraged by earlier plantings of sweet potatoes and cotton. Adcock improved the farm through the use of lime and phosphate, and by growing cover crops and grasses. Then he raised cattle to use the feed produced.

When a group of farmers and County Agent J. R. Davis recently visited the farm on a pasture tour, they saw excellent stands of brome grass, orchard grass, sweet clover and alfalfa. On land which previously failed to yield 10 bushels of corn to the acre, Adcock harvested 50 to 60 bushels, and about 25 bushels of wheat. He plows his ground for corn only once every six or seven years, he told the farmers.

A pleasant light luncheon menu is one of pears on crisp greens with cream or yellow cheese and squares of gingerbread.

A five-pound dressed stewing chicken will yield about three pounds of chicken meat, including giblets. This will make three to four cups of cubed meat for a creamed dish or a salad.

20 Bushels MORE Corn Per Ton Of Stalks!

Corn crop following lespedeza, sweet clover, alfalfa, treated with half ton powdered rock phosphate produced 20 bushels MORE corn per ton of stalks than crop following untreated legumes. Start this PROVED soil-building program — put Four Leaf NOW on legume fields and on field you'll seed to legumes.

Pitcher Pistol Pete Pate Fans 184 In 81 Innings

By Del Booth
(AP NEWSFEATURES)

St. George, S. C.—Pistol Pete Pate's 184 strikeouts in 81 innings this season make him one of the best professional baseball prospects on record, his coach believes.

Pate, who will be 18 in August but still has two years of high school left, is a calm, almost phlegmatic lefthander who has shot that third strike past batters with annoying regularity.

His best strikeout record is 25 in a nine-inning game. His lowest is 13 in a five-inning game halted by rain.

In the 10 games he has pitched this year, he has given up but 23 hits but only one earned run.

Five feet 10 inches tall and weighing 160 pounds, Pate uses a speed ball most of the time. His control is phenomenal, Coach Felix Neal insists.

His hitting is as good as his pitching. He has a .470 average. In one game he rapped out a single, three doubles and a triple, driving home six runs.

Neal, a 1943 graduate of Mississippi State where he played football, basketball and baseball, says Pate is almost as good a football halfback and basketball forward as he is a diamond pitcher.

The youngster plans to finish school at St. George High, and possibly attend college. He refuses to say whether he wants a professional baseball career.

Neither of his older brothers has ever played professional baseball, nor has his widowed father, W. A. Pate, who christened his youngest son Francis Marion, after the state's Revolutionary War hero general.

Booklet Lists Ways To Save Food, Money

Ways to save both food and money are suggested in a new menu and recipe booklet, "Money Saving Main Dishes," according to Mrs. Pearl Haak, food specialist at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky.

Prepared by Washington home economists, the 48-page food guide contains more than 150 recipes, with suggestions for well-rounded menus. The recipes are economical, yet healthful, for they suggest uses of plentiful, cheaper foods, high in food value. Copies of the booklet may be had from offices of county or home agents, or from the college, Lexington.

Malt Possibilities In Kentucky Barley

A report of the Malt Research Institute of Madison, Wis., brings out possibilities in using Kentucky winter barley to make malt. At the suggestion of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington, a car of Kentucky barley was tested by the Wisconsin institution and found to have advantages over the spring barleys commonly used.

Dr. L. M. Josephson of the Experiment Station, who is working to improve Kentucky grains, says freight rates between Kentucky and Wisconsin almost prohibit the use of Kentucky barley. He suggests a malt house in Louisville or Cincinnati might solve the difficulty. Malsters are interested in using Kentucky winter barley if they can obtain it in large quantities.

BRITISH AIM TO RULE MIDDLE EAST THRU PUPPET KING ABDULLAH

By EDGAR ANSEL MOWRER
in the New York Post and The Home News

Here is the real explanation of Britain's current plot against Palestine, the reasons for which have mystified the entire world. I cannot disclose the identity of my informant—but here are the facts.

The world has not been able to understand Britain's secret motives in disarming the Jews while arming the Trans-Jordanians. The motives for permitting British officers to accompany the Trans-Jordanian invaders while Britain was sabotaging the U. S. eleventh hour plan for a trusteeship over the Holy places. Why, people ask, should His Majesty's Government stoop to a final offensive against its Jewish wards when Britain was withdrawing from Palestine altogether?

Here are the answers:

Britain does not expect to stay out of Palestine, at least not out of all Palestine. Britain expects to stay out of the State of Israel. But Britain is very much in Trans-Jordania—and expects to remain there.

Trans-Jordania can, however, serve Britain adequately only if it can be enlarged in a certain way. The frontiers of partition drawn by the U. N. Commission do not satisfy Britain's ambitions for King Abdullah.

These frontiers leave to the Palestinian Arabs northwest Galilee along the Lebanon border—which British plans do not require Abdullah to possess. Yet to permit northwest Galilee to go to the state of Lebanon would alarm unduly the Christian half of the Lebanese. Therefore, the Jews can be permitted to acquire northwestern Galilee.

In exchange, Abdullah must obtain most of the Negeb, that wedge-like portion of Palestine that extends from the Mediterranean down to the Red Sea. This would make Trans-Jordania the only country in the Middle East except Egypt that fronts on both the Mediterranean and the Red Seas. A railway line connecting a Mediterranean port, perhaps Gaza or a place farther west, with Aqaba on the Red Sea, would parallel the Suez Canal. Thereby Britain, forced out of Egypt, could both defend and control the Suez Canal from the eastern side.

For this reason the Jews must be forced to yield the coveted portion of the Negeb which the U. N. Commission bestowed upon them. This they would never do voluntarily. Therefore it must be captured by Abdullah's British-armed and British-officered Arab Legion. At this point the Jews could, the British believe, be compelled to give up the Negeb in exchange for western Galilee.

But this is not all of Britain's plans. Abdullah's present kingdom is, with the exception of a narrow strip along the river Jordan, a desert waste. Its capital, Amman, is a Bedouin village. The British are planning to let him (Abdullah) take over a new and splendid capital, namely, Jerusalem itself.

If Abdullah can seize the Holy City, take over the Arab areas of central Palestine, add the Negeb, link up a port on the Mediterranean with Aqaba on the Red Sea, then his country will be one of the most important in the entire area. Arab Trans-Jordania and not Jewish Israel will become the radiating center of occidental influence in the Middle East. Occidental influence would mean British influence.

This joint British-Arab dream can be brought about only subject to three conditions:

1. There must be no trusteeship that will let American and French forces back into the area. More important, there must be no international trusteeship over the Holy Places for otherwise Abdullah could not make Jerusalem into his capital city.

2. Abdullah's armies must be strong enough to wrest Jerusalem from the Jewish Haganah. This they can best accomplish under British leadership. Therefore the British commander and the British officers must remain with the Arab Legion unless and until the United Nations make this impossible.

Finally, Haganah must be defeated quickly or it cannot be defeated at all. Once ports of Israel are open to the free influx of Jewish volunteers and Jewish war material, Haganah will quickly become unbeatable. Therefore Abdullah must take what he covets now—or never.

To make sure that Abdullah would take all the quick tricks, his troops were brought into Palestine in advance... by the British. The Palestinian Arabs who might help him were armed in advance... by the British. And the Jews who are now opposing him were disarmed in advance... by the British.

Family Tapestry

Barcelona — AP — Gabino Stuyck, director of Spain's Royal Tapestry Factory, is the sixth generation of his family to hold his post. Jacobo Van der Goten, Flemish artist, was the first director when Phillip, the fifth, founded the factory in 1720. A grand nephew, Livinio Stuyck, succeeded him, and ever since there has been a Stuyck as director of the Madrid factory where the ancient art is kept alive.

Butte, Mont. — AP — A super-eager beaver was balked in an effort to build himself a dam in suburban Meaderville but won his fight to remain free. The animal's engineering work on Silver Bow Creek didn't fit in at all with city planning, so Jack Ritter and Louis Bugni hauled the beaver off the job with a garden rake and dumped him in a sack. For a time they entertained ideas of making him a pet but he fought that idea tooth and claw, so they freed him in nearby hills.

Woodpeckers Menace Power

Oso — AP — The municipal authorities in the small community of Valsøyfjord, southwestern Norway, have declared war upon woodpeckers. The birds have concentrated their efforts in an attempt to break down the electricity supply of the small community. The wooden posts, supporting the transmission wires, have been damaged, and are now to be replaced by new ones. The authorities are paying $1 for every woodpecker killed.

College Radio Schedule

The following radio programs from the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics will be heard daily over WHAS at 12:45 p.m.: June 14, C. E. ## How G. O. P. Prospects Stand On Major Issues

UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING AND DRAFT

Dewey — Has favored UMT and a limited selective service.

Stassen — Proposes "a manpower program in which young men would register with congress deciding how many should be called each year."

Taft — Opposes UMT but says temporary selective service may be necessary.

Warren — For UMT "because it is a democratic process which calls upon rich and poor alike to serve equally in country's defense."

Vandenberg — Has taken no position on this question. (His office says he's been too busy guiding Republican participation in a bi-partisan foreign policy to become involved in domestic issues.)

Martin — Has opposed UMT but will follow Republican party line on limited draft.

FOREIGN POLICY

Dewey — Has urged a "United States of Europe as a strong third power devoted to the cause of peace." For firm policy toward Russia.

Stassen — Would abolish veto power in United Nations. Favors U. S. military alliance with countries of western Europe.

Taft — Has urged United Nations charter be rewritten with legal teeth in it. Wants United Nations to lay down rules of international conduct to be administered by impartial tribunal, with or without Russia.

Warren — Says United Nations "should be put to test" of dealing with aggression."

Vandenberg — Leader of Republican participation in bi-partisan foreign policy... pushed bill to finance European Recovery Program through Senate... favors "strong stand for peace which includes justice and honor."

Martin — Has said "America must help Europe and the Orient but not as a world WPA unlimited."

TAFT-HARTLEY LABOR ACT

Dewey — It's a good law. But I'm sure it has some faults. My party will be more ready to repair those defects than the Democrats have been with their labor legislation.

Stassen — Would amend law to allow union publications to support political candidates, ease restrictions on union shops, and require union officials to sign non-Communist affidavits only if they are accused of Communism.

Taft — Says "the country and labor union members themselves are finding that the law is working because it is based on justice and equality while protecting every basic right which labor leaders have fought for."

Warren — Says "the law should be continually re-examined with no hesitation in amending it to correct deficiencies demonstrated by experience."

Vandenberg — No comment on it... voted for passage of law; also voted to over-ride Truman veto.

Martin — Was a leading supporter of bill in house.

INFLATION

Dewey — Has favored tax reduction, less government spending, and public debt reduction as check on inflation.

Stassen — Has advocated limiting consumer credit, a check on extreme speculation, and legislation "to ban excessive inventories that result in unbridled hoarding and profiteering." Opposes price and rationing controls.

Taft — Favored tax reduction and cut in non-defense spending. Against government price and rationing controls.

Warren — Says "if voluntary measures prove ineffectual to check inflation, we must resort to legal measure — export and credit controls, or price, wage, and use controls."

Vandenberg — Has taken no position on inflation but voted for tax reduction.

Martin — Outspoken advocate of Republican tax-cutting measure. Has said "We can bring

Eddy Creek
Planning your work to save time was the main thought given by Mrs. S. J. Satterfield, home management leader, at the home of Mrs. Frank Burchett May 27.

Devotional and thought for the day were given by members. The minor lesson was on serving the meal.

Mrs. Wylie Brown reported that Eddy Creek club had reached one unorganized neighborhood when that club met with Mrs. F. U. Lacy and gave information on hooking wool rugs.

Refreshments were served to six members and three visitors. The next meeting will be with Mrs. F. A. Lewis, June 23.

Creswell
Six Farmersville Homemakers met in the Creswell community at the home of Mrs. Ben Yandall for the purpose of giving information to an unorganized group.

Mrs. R. T. Thomson demonstrated "Ironing the Easier Way." She showed that a lap table, and other equipment which could be made at home, made ironing easier.

Mrs. J. D. Asher, Miss Fannie Calvert, and Mrs. R. T. Thomson displayed rugs which had been made as a result of the lessons studied in homemakers' work.

Miss Wilma Vandiver, home agent, explained how any group who was interested could organize a club.

Present were: Mrs. Elmer Mc-down prices by stepping up production and cutting government spending." Opposed price controls, saying "competition is better regulator than government bureaus."

PALESTINE PARTITION

Dewey — Favors it.

Stassen — For partition. Has urged United Nations police force, with American troops participating.

Taft — Favors it.

Warren — Has taken no position on Palestine but has expressed hope that United Nations would bring about a just decision.

Vandenberg — Has taken no position but said President Truman's recognition of Jewish state was a "logical move."

Martin — Has favored partition.

COMMUNIST PARTY IN U. S.
Dewey — Opposes outlawing party because it would drive Reds underground.

Stassen — Favors outlawing Communist party.

Taft — Opposes outlawing party.

Vandenberg — Has taken no position but has said "we shall not surrender to Communist conspiracies in the United States."

Martin — Has taken no position.

GETS ARMY POST — Tracy S. Voorhees, New York attorney was nominated (June 5) by President Truman to be assistant secretary of the army.

That Left-Handed Time Saver

Alton L. Blakeslee
SCIENCE REPORTER

Generally, Dr. Gross said, considerable time can be saved by putting the left hand to work. Women should dust or polish with a cloth in each hand, and wash windows the same way. Both hands should be used in removing or replacing dishes and glasses from cupboards, or in placing silverware and dishes at the table. When drying dishes, the left hand should use the towel as well as the right. In molding cookies, the dough can be spooned up with the right hand, rolled into balls and placed on the baking sheet with the left hand.

On cleaning spinach, the time saving was 20 percent. On washing the woodwork, the saving was 10 percent. On the spinach bath process, some time-saver recommendations are:

Use lukewarm water, not cold; arrange the work set-up to cut the spinach as it's taken from the bag, and have the waste bowl next in line; wash in a double sink or two containers that can be alternately filled with water, to avoid waiting; and use both hands to lift the spinach and floating bits from the water.
For washing woodwork: Put the pail on something at a convenient height, instead of on the floor; use a cleaning agent, that doesn't require rinsing, like trisodium phosphate, instead of soap; use long strokes, not short ones in washing and keep the drying cloth handy in an apron pocket.
The time savings weren't big, but if all jobs are properly organized, the minutes and seconds mount up to an hour or more in an eight-hour day.

Rabid Animals Are Problem To State Health Department

"A recent death of a child in Louisville reported to have been due to the bite of a rabid dog has alarmed many citizens who want to protect themselves and their children from this disease," Dr. W. L. Cash, director of the County Health Office, said this week.

Rabies is an increasing problem in Kentucky. Last year tests were made by the State Health Department Laboratory on 312 heads of animals suspected of being rabid. Of these, 172 heads were found to be from animals having rabies.

Most people think of rabies as being a disease of dogs only, Dr. Cash said. "This is not true. These 172 heads were from various kinds of animals; 120 were dog heads, 16 heads of cats, 25 foxes, 1 sheep, 1 swine, 8 cats and 1 mule."

"The homeless, stray dog is always a source of danger as it roams to find food and is more liable to be bitten by a rabid animal. As the period of incubation varies from three weeks to four months, it is readily seen that rabies will always be a problem in Kentucky unless this type of animal is eliminated."

"During 1947 the State Health Department sent out treatments for rabies for 1,055 persons in the State who had been bitten by rabid dogs or who were suspicious that the bites they had received were from animals that were rabid, even though it had been impossible to obtain the heads and send them for examination. The results of these treatments were dramatic—not a single death occurred from rabies in the State in 1947."

By protecting your dog you protect yourself from this dread disease," is part of the advice contained in a health pamphlet recently issued by the State Department of Health, which offers advice about prevention of rabies, or hydrophobia, as it is often called. A copy of this pamphlet will be sent to any citizen of this State requesting it.

Negro Is Candidate For Congress Seat

Alfred M. Carroll, 35, attorney, has become the first Negro to run for U. S. Senator or Representative from Kentucky. He is a candidate for Third District Congressman under auspices of the Wallace Committee for Louisville and Jefferson County. He is native of Louisville and a fourth-generation Kentuckian. He has four children.

Vary cheese fondue, an economical basic dish, by adding a small amount of canned or cooked chopped shrimp before it is baked. Serve with a hot tomato sauce flavored with basil. Use meringue with which to frost cupcakes. Just beat an egg white with one-eighth teaspoon salt until stiff but not dry, and add one-quarter cup brown sugar very gradually. Continue beating until mixture is stiff and glossy. Spread on cup cake batter in muffin pans and bake as usual.

Retonga Proved To Be Just What He Needed

Felt Miserable Two or Three Hours after Meals. Especially from Distress Due to Sour Stomach. Now Eats Heartily, Sleeps Good, Feels Splendid.

"Retonga proved to be just what I needed," happily states Mr. George B. Thomason, respected citizen and home owner of 120 Hosi Ave., Dawson Springs, Ky. A member of the Baptist Church where he was superintendent of Sunday school for three years, and a veteran of World War I, Mr. Thomason gratefully continues:

"I felt miserable for two or three hours after every meal and especially from gas pains in my stomach. My appetite was so very poor I made myself eat to keep up my strength. I had to use strong laxatives continuously and I rarely ever slept a night through. The least noise would wake me and it would be hours before I could get back to sleep. So when I got up I felt tired out to start the day.

"The relief Retonga brought me was so prompt that by the time I had finished the first bottle I had regained my appetite and soon I began to get 8 to 10 hours of undisturbed sleep each night. I can now eat a hearty meal with joy and no fear of sour stomach. I no longer resort to strong laxatives to relieve my sluggish bowels. Retonga proved to be just what I needed for I feel better than in years."

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, borderline Vitamin B-1 deficiency, and constipation. If the first bottle fails to give you gratifying relief, your money will be refunded. You can get Retonga at Dawson's Drug Store.

Kentucky Lake In 1st Place As TVA Tourist Mecca

Dam Had 111,117 Visitors In May; 10,000 Fishing; Early Construction Of Bridge Sought

Malcolm G. Little, manager of properties of the Tennessee Valley Authority in the Kentucky Lake area, announced in an address at the annual meeting of the Kentucky Lake Association, held at Gilbertsville last Friday night, that Kentucky Lake has taken the lead among all the lakes of the TVA in the number of visitors. He said that it is estimated that more than 1,370,000 persons used Kentucky Lake last year, and that 111,117 visited Kentucky Dam in May. Emphasizing the popularity of fishing below the dam, Mr. Little said that it was estimated that 8,084 persons fished from the banks and 1,743 from boats there in May.

More than $566,000 has been invested in pleasure boats on Kentucky Lake, 10 boat docks are now in operation, 475 lots for cabins have been set aside in cabin subdivisions, and five parks opened.

Commenting on transfer of Kentucky Dam Village to the State, Mr. Little said TVA feels the State will make proper use of the properties as a park for benefit of the public.

In the principal address at the meeting, Henry Ward, new Kentucky Commissioner of Conservation, outlined plans being made by the State for development of Kentucky Dam and Kentucky Lake State Parks. He said as soon as possible after July 1, when the State takes over the Kentucky Dam Village as a park, the State will be "in a going business" there, operating a restaurant and providing housing facilities for visitors in 12 of the TVA houses, two dormitories and other buildings which will be available then. He reviewed plans for buildings to be erected at Kentucky Lake State Park.

Mr. Ward also announced the State Highway Department probably will award a contract soon for completion of the new highway between Kentucky Dam and Kuttawa, and that plans are being formulated for building a new bridge over Cumberland River on that route.

SHIELD EXPERT HERE

H. M. SHEVNAV, widely known expert of Chicago, will personally be at the Madison Hotel, Madisonville, Saturday only June 19, from 9 A.M. to 1 P.M.

Mr. Shevnav says: The Zeotic Shield is a tremendous improvement over all former methods, effecting immediate results. It will not only hold the rupture perfectly no matter the size or location but it will increase the circulation, strengthen the weakened parts, and thereby close the opening in ten days on the average case, regardless of heavy lifting, straining or any position the body may assume. A nationally known scientific method. No under straps or cumbersome arrangements and absolutely no medicines or medical treatments. Mr. Shevnav will be glad to demonstrate without charge.

State Police Now Recruiting Men

New Force Will Replace Highway Patrol July 1

Frankfort — AP — If you're between 21 and 35 years old, have the equivalent of a high school education and are in perfect physical condition, the Kentucky state police department wants you—in its ranks.

Guthrie F. Crowe, Lagrange, commissioner of the new department, announced a recruiting campaign has been launched by the police force, which will replace the Highway Patrol July 1.

Veterans will have the preference, he said, particularly unmarried ones.

Neither botanist nor physicist can explain satisfactorily the process by which sap rises to the top of trees, reports Don Fowler, researcher of the Davey Tree Experiment Company.

Kercheval Attends Firemen's School

Hugh Hunsaker Asks City Council To Establish New Street

Fire Chief C. E. Kercheval is attending a firemen's school at the University of Kentucky this week and assistant Chief Gordon Glenn is in charge of the fire department during the chief's absence. During the month, two of the Princeton firemen attended a fire school at Morganfield. The fire department responded to two alarms during May and reported an expense account of $140 for firemen's services.

Hugh Hunsaker proposed, at Monday night's City Council meeting, establishment of a street in exchange for some land to be annexed to Cedar Hill Cemetery. The proposal was taken under advisement.

More than 373,200 pounds of crushed stone used in repairing streets during May, and the work of repairing the Varmint Trace was reported suspended for the present, or until other contributions are made.

There were 41 cases on the May police court docket, with collections of $651.50, of aggregate fines and costs of $710 assessed. In the case of Evelyn George, charged with aiding and abetting liquor sale, amended warrant to illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, tried by jury and given a fine of $50 and costs and 60 days in jail, placed under $500 peace bond; case appealed to circuit court. Bernice George was fined $100 and costs on a charge of "running a disorderly house."
